M&A

M&A is a focal point of our legal work. In the framework of our comprehensive transaction advice, we identify and explain the legal opportunities and risks of purchasing or selling a company, function as a coordinator for all phases of the project and assist our client in the negotiation phase in a strategically-active manner.

Employment law

Companies, Board of Directors members, managing directors and executives appreciate our consistent, solution-oriented advice in individual and collective employment law. We take care of companies' personnel areas in the framework of their daily business and develop solutions and strategies, for example regarding issues of co-determination and in connection with the planning and implementation of restructuring or company purchases and sales.

Corporate law

Our spectrum of advice covers the entire bandwidth of corporate law. Our clients receive from us practical explanations and recommendations regarding corporate organisation, in connection with tax configuration questions, in the entire area of corporate governance, as well as regarding corporate or group restructuring.

Litigation

We are wholly on our clients' side in and out of court, and represent them in judicial and arbitration proceedings. We develop well-founded analyses of the chances and risks of litigation, and clear strategies for conducting or preventing litigation. We configure the process in a foresighted and active manner, always with an eye on client-oriented conflict resolution.

Intellectual property

We develop strategies to protect and exploit intellectual property and implement them. We render advice on the choice of trademarks, company names or other signs, effect trademark registration, and manage our clients' trademark portfolios worldwide. We provide our clients with legal and tactical advice and represent them in judicial infringement litigation concerning the infringement of trademarks, patents or utility models.

Antitrust and competition law

In connection with company transactions and contract configuration, we identify and assess antitrust-law risks at an early stage and develop tailor-made alternative solutions as needed. We conduct merger control processes with antitrust authorities and undertake legal representation in antitrust-law proceedings and court cases.

Commercial

Our advice includes the configuration of business contracts, sales and purchasing structures, sales and distribution systems, research and development co-operations and project contracts. We assist our clients actively in the protection of their delivery chains, the securing of claims in the pre-insolvency area, and represent client interests consistently in connection with asserting and defending against contractual and statutory claims.

Public commercial law

Environmental law, regulated industries, product safety, grant and subsidy law, and other areas of public commercial law: in our clients' interests we cover the entire spectrum of the configuration of corporate activity in harmony with the complex regulatory stipulations on a national and European level.

Real estate

We assist private individuals and companies with all of the issues pertaining to real property, buildings and installations. We assist with the contract configuration as well as the public-law aspects associated with the development, planning, construction and financing of buildings and industrial facilities. In the area of real estate usage, our particular focus is on questions of commercial and private tenancy law, as well as facility and asset management.
